My dearest Sprinkles,

Your journey has begun tonight to join our existence and be of this family. I hope one day, every day, you feel the love and excitement I have had for this moment ever since you brought yourself to us with your spirit. I hope that your journey tonight is happy and healthy and safe. We have tried very hard to create an environment for you that is safe and supportive, just as your life should be.

Perhaps you will read this letter many times in your life, or maybe only once. Whatever the frequency, I intend for it to be an useful letter and a kind and loving one. Above all, please know that I will always love you.

If I am successful at doing my job as your father, you will grow up knowing and feeling love and kindness. My advice to you is to be mindful with others that they may not have had the same luxury and environment as you here and that your greatest gift to others will be to show them kindness, to see the world from their point of view and to be gentle in all your dealings.

One thing I hope you will never forget as you grow and develop and feel your ~~sp~~ place out in the world is that nothing you will own, accomplish or create will be as valuable as the time and effort you spending in service to others or an idea greater than you. If I have learned at least one thing in my 42 years, it is that the more I do for others, the more in rhythm I am with the universe, and arguably, that is the source of true joy.

Another truth I hope you experience is that ~~of~~ all that you need to know, you already know and have known from the beginning of time. All that you need to know is inside of you and a key to life is to find all the ways you can to access that eternal wisdom. However you feel best search inside always, the answers are there. We are wise beyond your wildest imagines.

If you find yourself too far on the side of either seriousness or frivolity, just be mindful of the path back. All paths are to be experienced and enjoyed, however, keep you wits about you and remember your trail markers, they will always get you home.

When you encounter a time that you feel like you have lost your child like inclinations, your youthful energy, your spontaneity or your imagination, go out and play. Find the time, nay, make the time to play. Move your body, get back to your element, find your youth. This will keep you eternal.

There are so many more things I would like to tell you which I am sure we will have years to discuss. As for now, these ~~are~~ are my thoughts for you as you make your way into our arms and our hearts. My love for you is unquestionable.

Love,
Jelly aka Dadeley
